

A Benjamin Franklin Award Winner -- Completely Updated for 2015

The Most In-Depth Source for Understanding and Finding a Career in the Space Industry

This Book Will Help You:

- ^ Understand the commercial, civil, and military space sector
- ^ Locate colleges and universities with specialized programs
- ^ Identify scholarships and fellowships
- ^ Find COOP and work opportunities for real-world experience
- ^ Improve your resume and understand the interview process with advice from a top industry CEO
- ^ Realize why, where, and how to network in the industry
- ^ Identify the top hiring companies and organizations
- ^ Explore opportunities to access the highest power telescopes and study the galaxy

About the Authors

Leonard David, winner of the National Space Club Press Award, director of research for the National Commission on Space, and co-author with Buzz Aldrin on "Mission to Mars: My Vision for Space Exploration", has reported on the space industry for decades.

Scott Sacknoff, president of the International Space Business Council, is a consultant and entrepreneur whose career spans developing engines for the Space Shuttle to policy, finance, and commercial space activity analysis.

A Vital Reference for Librarians, Career Counselors, High School and College Students, Educators, and Job Seekers

ISBN: 978-1-887022-19-4 (Trade Paper)
ISBN: 978-1-887022-20-0 (ebook)
224 Pages, $20. [May 2015]

Order Online:
www.spacebusiness.com/careers
www.spacehistory101.com

Order By Mail:
Space Careers * PO Box 5752 *
Bethesda, MD 20824-5752 United States

Order By Phone:
+1 (703) 524-2766

YES!

Please send me ___ copies of Space Careers at $20 per copy.

Name _____

Title _____

Organization _____

Address _____

City/St/Zip _____

Country _____

Phone _____

Email _____

* Please add $4 per order for U.S. shipping

* Maryland orders, please add 6% sales tax

PAYMENT OPTIONS:

VISA MasterCard Amex Other Card Check Enclosed

Name on Card _____ (if different)

Card # _____ Exp Date ___ / ___

Signature _____

Order Form